Now the Whole Family Can Get into the 35mm Act

Since Dad bought a Canon SPRINT there's been a lot less arguing over what pictures he should take. Now everyone can snap their own favorite shots. It's so easy. Starting with film loading, everything is automatic. The camera advances and rewinds the film and even sets the film speed. Autofocus and auto exposure make things still simpler. And it takes fascinating close-ups.

The Canon SPRINT. It turns precious moments into beautiful memories.

Compact, lightweight for carefree photography
Active outdoorsmen love the handy size and light weight of the SPRINT (including batteries, only 250g). Handling couldn't be easier. The stylish lens cover slides open instantly unlocking the shutter, ready for action. Autofocus captures the swiftest

Film loading is child's play

Children don't have to ask a grown-up to load the camera for them: the SPRINT loads itself. Each time it takes a picture, it advances to the next frame. At the end of the roll, the film automatically rewinds into its cartridge and stops. Let the kids record their adventures with friends and pets. The SPRINT is so simple they'll take great pictures the first time they try. And it makes a great birthday present!

subject with pinpoint sharpness every time. Shooting off-center subjects is easy using focus-lock, while programmed auto exposure ensures that each shot is properly exposed.

Take a closer look at life

The SPRINT, unusual for a pocket camera, can take excellent close-ups. Crisp, clear snapshots of subjects as close as 45cm are possible using flash. Grandma and Grandpa started out by taking pictures of flowers in their garden. Now close-up photography is an absorbing hobby. They've taken frame-filling shots of butterflies and frost-covered leaves. Grandma says, "it's a new way of understanding nature" and Grandpa has found that he can capture every last detail of his model ships. Another thing they really like about the SPRINT is that it sets the film speed automatically. The camera reads the DX code on the film and sets itself to ISO 100 or 400.

Put it in the family album

Mom has an eye for pictures of everyday happenings at home. The children are growing so fast and someday the family will treasure the shots she takes now. Family gatherings and parties often take place indoors, but that's no problem as the camera has its own built-in flash. The versatile SPRINT fits right in with Mom's lifestyle—and wardrobe. She chose the wine red model, but it's also available in black.
